

Trust, the Key to Successful Living

Isaiah 26:3; Philippians 4:8; Matthew 6:8

Trusting in Perilous Times

Two weeks ago we began a series on trust; to be specific we acknowledge that we can trust God. We also discovered that it was imperative that we develop ourselves so that God can trust us.

There is no doubt that we are living in a shaking moment in time. Nobody knows how this thing will end up except God. One of the most important aspects of living in the trust of the Lord is that we are not to let fear and anxiety consume our thinking, dominate our minds, or take hold of our hearts.

This message was born out of a deep concern for people who need to learn to trust God in perilous times.

What if God would audibly speak right now in this perilous time?
What would He say?

I. I _____ and that is all that matters.

A. God will never abandon His _____.

1. If you're concerned about your _____, know that He cares more for them than you do.

2. He knows about your needs:

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____ to _____.

II. It is not my will that my children face the perilous times ahead with paralyzing _____.

A. Abandon yourself to _____ trust in the Lord, your Rock.

1. God's Word is a Word of _____.

a. Before we ask, He _____.

b. Before we need, He _____.

c. Before we hurt, He _____.

III. There is one lesson that every child of mine must _____ and practice.

A. There might be dark days ahead, but there is no darkness in Him. He is _____.

1. He is calling us today to have a simple childlike _____ in His faithfulness.

2. You can cast your cares on Him because He _____.

3. You can _____ on Him.

Conclusion

1. God won't answer prayers to _____ a wrong lifestyle.

2. God will _____ all of our needs.

3. God knew about the dark days ahead before the darkness arrived. _____ for He is here.
